Dear Alcoverro,

Thanks for your last letter. I'm afraid I still have no reply from Vilanova, and am really at a loss what to do. But we must make a decision now, since the Society will certainly suffer. As you are the only member of the committee in London, would it be possible for you to take over, or help and encourage Vilanova to carry on?

The first thing that must be done straightaway is to send a reminder out to the local list of members to fill in the slips of the previous circular, stating whether they can come to Oxford or not. The second thing is that the minutes of last year's meeting must be prepared also.

Could you possibly reply as soon as possible and tell me whether you are willing to do this. I'd also be grateful for any news about Vilanova.

Yours,
