

THE DOLPHIN BOOK CO. LTD.

SPANISH BOOKS : NEW & ANTIQUARIAN BOOKSELLERS, 14 FYFIELD ROAD, OXFORD

Telephone : Oxford, 57877 Cables & Telegrams : Dolphin, Oxford

12th October 1961

Professor R. B. Tate
The University
Nottingham

Dear Brian,

It has taken me a little time to get hold of Trueta, as he has been engaged with Conferences and the like.

He has asked me if you will kindly write to him giving the dates of the Conference (although I have already done so), and the possible numbers that may be required to accomodate at Worcester College. He will then ask the College to reserve those dates, etc. He says that the lectures could either be at Worcester or at the Nuffield Research Center, where he has a wonderful lecture hall, adjoining facilities for tea, etc. I felt he would rather favour the later, since he feels that in this way he would be welcoming the Conference more at his "home". But this is a point that can be decided much nearer the time.

I expect you are already off with a good start for this term. I am also well back into harness, but so long as I feel well all is well. The last Conference left very pleasant memories, not forgetting the convivial hours we spent together.

