Dear Professor Tate:

Some of our staff have unexpectedly been prevented from returning in time for the beginning of the semester. Consequently I shall not be able to get away for the Oxford meeting and my stay in Catalonia. I had hoped that Joan Corominas who is in Barcelona might read my paper but he cannot go to England. So I shall send it to you and do hope there will be somebody from America who knows the conference and will answer the questions that usually arise.

I am really greatly disappointed, as you can imagine, not to be with you at Oxford for I had looked forward to it ever since last Christmas and am most eager to meet the Anglo-Catalan group, whose activities we have so eagerly followed.

Cordial regards to all and best wishes to you for a most enjoyable session.
Sincerely yours, Josephine de Boer
