Dear Miss Truman,

Thank you for your letter. I am afraid, however, that I cannot understand its terms. You say that the rights have been dealt with. May I therefore know who is in possession of the rights to the Catalan translation? I have dealt with matters similar to this with Faber and Faber, and no difficulties have arisen.

If it may solve matters, perhaps I could write to Mr. Ustinov himself on the question of his play Romanoff and Juliet.

Yours sincerely,

RBT
