Dear Ron,

I hear from Geoffrey Walker, who was the Amsterdam Col.loqui de Filologia Catalana, that Aramon's son wants to apply for the A.-C. Society Scholarship. Walker told him that provided he was coming here for a definite purpose (such as one of the extra-mural courses they have in Cambridge), he might have quite a good chance. I have asked him to tell Aramon's son to apply formally to me. I have also asked Paul how much was there available for the purpose, and also if he thought he would be a suitable candidate. Walker seems to think that provided he joins one of the courses (he is sending him details of the Cambridge ones), he would agree to the Scholarship being granted.

What do you think? If ~~walk~~^{we all} agree, then we shall be four members of the Committee. Do we have to ask the others?

I thought it would be nice to have proper stationery, so I have had a few of these printed - at my expense. I enclose a few; please let me know if you want any more.

Easter greetings, and best regards.

Yours ever,
