Dear Paul,

Just a line to congratulate you on the smooth & extremely efficient organisation of the Conference. Everything seemed to go off extremely well, & with no outward sign of the headaches which must have been experienced behind the scenes - to judge from my own share of them last year. As its first secretary, you have certainly sent the Society off to a most efficient start in these two years. Now, I suppose, you are sitting back with a sigh of relief - the burdens of mere term seem slight, compared with organisational worries.

Do try to find something to bring you down to the Bodleian or the Taylor, & so to drop in on us (there's always a camp bed available).

Kindest regards from Brigitte.

Yours ever,

Brigitte
