

TELEPHONE NO. 78555

DEPARTMENT OF HISPANIC STUDIES
THE UNIVERSITY
SHEFFIELD

S10 2TN

28th September, 1970

Dear Ron,

I hope I am not too late to give you a title and résumé of what I plan to talk about at this year's Anglo-Catalan Conference. As you will see, my scope has been somewhat narrowed. There are good reasons for this, as I hope to make clear, and I hope the theme is still acceptable. If you are still planning to send out abstracts I trust the following will meet the bill :

J.M. Folch i Torres' Joan Endal"

This paper will present an introduction to the work of J.M. Folch i Torres as "serious" writer through a study of Joan Endal, the best known and most representative of his early novels. A critical analysis of Joan Endal will provide a basis for consideration of various inter-related aspects of Folch i Torres' life and work.

A. G. Y.

I trust arrangements for the Conference are going smoothly and are not getting in the way of your preparations for the new term. Looking forward to seeing you in November.

With all best wishes,

Yours ever,

Dr. R.G. Keightley,
Department of Spanish,
University of Nottingham,
Nottingham,
NG7 2RD.